LO: To write a non-chronological report.

Today's English task is to write a neat copy of the Celtic / Roman houses non-chronological report. In your pack is a copy of either your draft non-chronological report (if you were able to be in school at the end last week), or your notes that you collected at the start of next week.

Remember that a non-chronological report should include:

- Title
- Introduction
- Sub headings
- Paragraphs
- Technical / topical vocabulary
- Formal language (posh voice)
- Past tense (because it is a historical non-chronological report)
- Summary

I can't wait to read the finished non-chronological reports when we are all back in school, the research you did on the computer and the draft reports I saw all looked amazing!
